OPERATIONAL INSTRUCTIONS

When to use your head and neck support pillow

The head and neck support pillow accessory is designed to support the natural curve of your neck while performing some Pilates reformer exercises; however, it should not be used with all exercises.

Do use the head and neck support pillow to provide comfort, support and postural alignment for reformer exercises that are performed while lying on your back.

Remove the head and neck support pillow for exercises that require you to lift your hips higher than your head.

How to install, position, and adjust your head and neck support pillow

With the headrest in the flat position, place the head and neck support pillow on top of the headrest with the thickest part of the head and neck support pillow nearest the carriage so the thickest part will be under your neck. Secure by slipping the elastic band around the headrest. Move the head and neck support pillow toward you or away from you until it is comfortable.
